Notes from Our Director

Well our year is off to a good start and we may have the best touring season in our club's history this year. Tom Miller and I visited the MARC National Membership meeting in April in Newark, Ohio. After listening to the leadership discuss our upcoming National Meeting in Branson, I am excited about it. I would encourage each of you to check out their website and consider joining in the fun. There will also be a National Tour in Elkin, WV, in September that should prove to be spectacular in Fall foliage and other exceptional outings. The rest of this month and next are packed with opportunities to get your cars out. We plan to have Car Games on May 12th, look for details in this issue of your newsletter. We also plan to have the Memorial Day parade in Senoia again this year, please plan to come out to remember those that gave their all.

Your planning committee will have a meeting in May to firm up and plan out the balance of our year. Please stand by for some interesting outings. We will likely have another mystery tour soon so keep an eye out for this announcement. And don't forget our Thursday night ice cream gatherings at Culver's. Our first turnout was terrific and enjoyed by all. Get those cars ready, we're going to have some fun!

See you soon down the road,

~Jim

AVONDALE EASTER PARADE

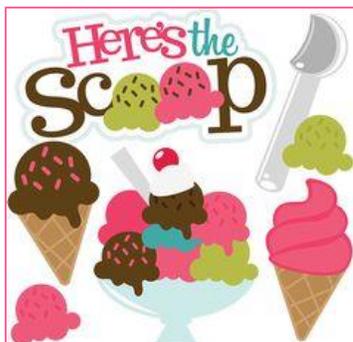

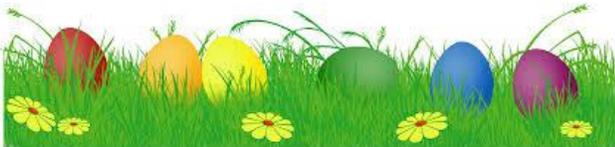

Sunday, April 1, 2018

Several members of the Southside A's took part in the annual Avondale Easter Parade on April 1st. The weather couldn't have been better for socializing at the gathering spot, followed by a leisurely pace through the neighborhood filled with spring flowers, and spectators of all ages. We all enjoyed tossing candy to the little ones along the way.

There were approximately 65 vintage cars, according to the organizers, who provided light refreshments as we gathered around a green space at the end of the parade. And we even got to see Bud Shelton who brought his Woody for the occasion.

Southside A's (and assorted grandchildren): Mike & Gwyneth Shotwell; Jim Wingo, with daughter, Kimmie and boyfriend Sun; Dick Carne with Pam, Cynthia, Eric and kids; Mark & Marilyn Corley; Walt & Jenny Smith; Bud Shelton.

MONASTERY of the HOLY SPIRIT TOUR:

Saturday, April 21, 2018

Kathy Huey put together a wonderful drive and tour on Saturday, April 21. Ten Model A's departed Peachtree City for a drive that took us east of Atlanta, to Conyers, site of the Monastery of the Holy Spirit, where we were met by additional Southside A members.

Our tour began with an introduction from one of the 28 monks residing at the monastery who gave us a brief history of this contemplative place that was established in 1944. Derived from an order of French Cistercians who founded the first “New World” abbey in Kentucky in 1851, this daughter abbey sits on what was at the time wilderness area in rural Georgia. Today the monks run an active bakery which turns out popular fudge and fruitcakes, and the art of bonsai is on display both in a preservation “outdoor museum” and by selling multiple varieties in their garden shop.

The church itself is a marvel of Gothic style, and is utilized several times a day for daily prayers. Some in our group took the opportunity to visit the church during one of these periods. But walking inside is awe inspiring at any time of day.

The Visitor's Center provides a wonderful film that tells the history as well as daily life of the monastery, with interviews with several of the monks. It gives you a sense of these men as real people, called to a particular way of life, separated in many ways, but still ordinary men living dedicated lives. The history of monasteries from the 7th century is also well displayed, featuring among many interesting things, the fact that many innovations in the areas of land reclamation, engineering, agriculture, technology, education and economics was the direct result of the Cistercian monks, followers of Benedict, following the call to simplicity and self-sufficiency.

Regardless of your religious persuasion, I highly recommend visiting this unique place in our own backyard; its richness of history, and many additional and surprising features, are well worth learning about, amid a beautiful and peaceful setting.

Monthly Member Photos: This month we begin a new feature that will showcase our wonderful members and their cars! (And don't worry if you don't own a Model A . . . we'll feature you as well)

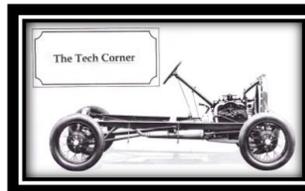

Walt and Jenny Smith:
(From Walt): My mother always loved antiques, and being a guy, I transferred that love over to the things that interested me- cars and airplanes. My first car which I acquired in 1972, was a 1946 ford 2 door, which I got running but never restored. I did restore a basket case 1940 Piper Cub while in high school which I still own and fly. For the past twenty five years, Jenny and I cannot remember a time when there was never a car in some state of disassembly in the garage. The car in the picture is a 1930 Deluxe Delivery. Jenny and I began looking for a closed touring car after we nearly froze on the fall tour of the Natchez Trace in our 1930 roadster. That tour is still our favorite. Jenny and I are history buffs, and the tour of the Joe Wheeler home was a real highlight. We love the wonderful people we have met, the fun places we go, and the smiles on all the people we pass by. We have only been touring for two years, but we have been bitten hard by the tour bug!

Ray Besch recently shared his Model A at Rotary Community Core, one of five such facilities across the country helping adults with challenges. Thank you, Ray, for being a great ambassador.

The Tech Corner

Maintaining the Model A Ford Radiator and Cooling System

Lots of people ask me about their radiators. There are several common problems that I thought we could address in this month's article. I will try to cover the basics, if you have any additional questions, call me anytime.

A Healthy cooling system: A well-maintained radiator and cooling system should be free of any leaks. The coolant temperature should remain within 100° of the temperature outside. In other words, on an 80° day the coolant temperature should stay under 180°. Measure with a temperature gage or laser thermometer at the upper water neck. Your coolant should never be a rusty color, and you should not have to add more than a quart of coolant during a normal drive. Keep in mind that a Model A cooling system is open to the outside atmosphere so you will lose coolant, you just shouldn't lose much.

Leaks: The most common leak is at the water pump. This can be corrected by rebuilding your water pump or replacing it with a "leakless" modern water pump. Another common leak is at the radiator cap. This will cause water to splash onto your windshield. This is not an overeating problem, just a problem with your cap sealing gasket. If you have a Quail or Moto-meter, you will have multiple gaskets, so you may have to spend some time making sure you have a good seal at the top of the radiator. If your radiator is leaking in the core, then a trip to the radiator shop or a new radiator may be in order. Of course hoses can also be a source of leaks. Just check everything carefully.

Rusty Coolant: Keep at least ½ gallon of anti-freeze in the car year round to prevent rust.

Flushing your cooling system: If you do have rusty water in your cooling system, you can try flushing it out with a garden hose. Make sure your engine is cool, then remove the upper radiator hose. Place a garden hose and the top of your radiator and turn on the water at a medium rate. Allow your engine to idle, letting the freshwater flush down to your radiator and up through your engine and out onto your clean driveway. The rusty stains will remain there for years. There are also some excellent chemical flushing agents available at your local auto parts store which will really clean the system well. Just follow the directions on the container.

More advanced problems: you can have more advanced problems such as a leak at your head gasket. If water disappears from your cooling system at an alarming rate or if you get water contamination in your oil then you can pressure test your cooling system to find hidden leaks. These pressure test kits are available at auto parts stores, sometimes they will even loan you the kit free of charge. Keep in mind you will need to plug off the overflow pipe before you can pressure test.

Still having problems? If you had checked everything above and still have overheating problems then I would recommend a new radiator such as a Brassworks. Your original radiator is almost 90 years old, and they do wear out. Let me know if we can help.

MARC Membership Meet

By Jim Wingo

Tom Miller and Jim Wingo traveled modern to the MARC National Membership meet in Newark, Ohio. Naturally, one of their first outings was to the local ice cream manufacturer. (Editor's note: and in between tastes of ice cream, they were learning the intricacies of the process, including the historical industry of ice harvesting, which made ice cream available to the masses by the mid-18th century.)

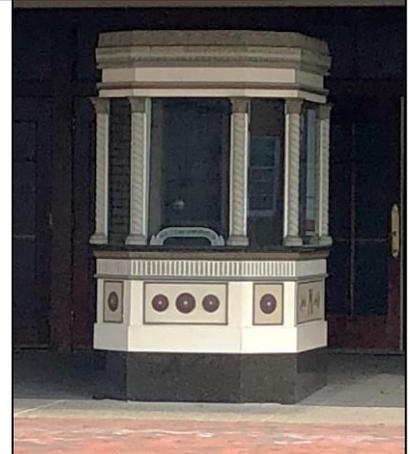

They attended the membership meeting and learned that our national club is not growing. Thus, there is a big push to get more young people involved in the hobby. They attended seminars on aligning front ends and restoring shocks that were very informative.
